Hi all

Well, who ever thought things would slow and pressure would ease by the time Easter came, will be biting their tongue now. The keyboards are clicking and the minds are ticking here at ASPL. With additional staff, a newly laid out warehouse and new, upgraded systems, we believe we offer the best quality service in New Zealand.

Is your security fencing a man trap?

We have done an extensive literature search and discovered that a "man-trap" as defined by the New Zealand Police, is something hazardous which is deliberately hidden in a place where it will knowingly cause harm to unassuming passersby or trespassers. When installing security related products, it is therefore the responsibility of the contractors to ensure a "man trap" situation is avoided. ASPL have developed a warning sign that will minimise the likelihood of you unintentionally creating a "man trap" in your next project. These are now available for purchase. Please view below under the 'New Products' section.
